

How To Submit Editorial Feedback to CNN

Unlike the New York Times, CNN does not have a process for submitting a “letter to the editor”, that is, a timely response to a specific article and/or specific coverage. That doesn’t mean that we can’t tell them what we want to see! Instead of responding to specific coverage, we can send them feedback about what we would like to see from CNN.

Follow the steps below to submit feedback to CNN and urge them to cover the TPNW.

1. Click on this link <https://help.cnn.com/us/Feedback>. It will take you to a page that looks like this:

2. From the “Topic” dropdown menu, select “Editorial Feedback”

The image displays two side-by-side screenshots of the CNN feedback form. Both screenshots have the heading "Please share your feedback" and the text "Do you have feedback about CNN? We'd love to hear from you." and "If you need help with CNN, please Contact Us".

The left screenshot shows the "Topic" dropdown menu with the option "Choose a topic" selected. A red circle highlights the "Topic" dropdown menu.

The right screenshot shows the "Topic" dropdown menu open, displaying a list of options: "Choose a topic", "CNN and CNN+ Availability", "Feedback on the CNN App", "Editorial Feedback", "Request", and "Get Help". The "Editorial Feedback" option is highlighted in blue.

3. Select a category from the “Feedback” menu. We suggest the category “General political feedback”.
4. Fill out the rest of the form with your first name, last name, and email address.
5. In the “Comment” box, write a short (we suggest one paragraph) comment urging CNN to include the TPNW in their coverage related to nuclear weapons. See the TPNW Talking Points document on our website for inspiration!
6. Submit!
7. After you’ve submitted your letter, remember to log it on our website! We need your help keeping track of how many letters to the editor get sent nationwide!

** TIP - If you submit feedback to CNN, we encourage you to also submit the same thing to NPR! Follow the step-by-step instructions on the NPR how-to page. At NPR they call it “Send a Story Idea”.
